

Coronavirus (COVID-19) - HR Policy Guidance

Employee feels unwell following vaccination

If the employee is not fit to attend work due to sickness as a result of any adverse side effects following vaccination, the absence should be recorded as normal sickness absence. Departments should exercise caution around these absences triggering formal action and, whilst not automatically disregarded for sickness, we would expect managers to view this sympathetically.